Based on the book by award-winning journalist Juan González, this film takes an unflinching look at the role that US military actions and corporate interests played in triggering unprecedented waves of migration from Mexico, the Caribbean, and Central America. It unveils a moving human story that is largely unknown to the majority of citizens in the United States and examines the direct connection between the long history of US intervention in Latin America and the immigration crisis we face today.

This free film series explores the lives and experiences of the “other” and expands our awareness of our neighbors as well as often marginalized individuals and groups. All are welcome. Please join us for a lively discussion.
