April Worship Theme: Nature

Nature, and our Mother Earth, can be all these things. Tell me about your best and worst experiences at the hands of nature. Have you had a spiritual experience in nature? What have you learned in your life about human nature? How does our natural world speak to the human experiences of life, death, and everything in between?

On Saturday, April 19th, 33 members of the Follen Community will travel to New Orleans to once again support the effort to rebuild property that was destroyed by monster storm Katrina on August 29, 2005. This is Follen’s 17th service trip to this area.

We wish them all safe travels.
Minister’s Column

Follen is a wonderfully active place. There are events here almost every day and night. But you may not be surprised that my favorite time of every week is Sunday morning.

I put my best work into planning worship, and I love the energy in the room when the congregation gathers. Together we lay down our burdens, share our joys, and spend time connecting with all that is holy and life-giving. My goal is to create worship that feels transformative; that gives everyone a sense of “awe” and “aha!”

I know all too well it can be hard to get out of the house on weekend mornings. Coffee and the paper, a comfy bed, kids sleeping in—it’s hard to put on real pants and head over to church. But I strive to make worship worth it.

In fact, the original meaning of the word worship comes from the Old English word for “worth,” or rather, “to give worth.” It isn’t just my words, or Thomas and the choir’s music, or the lay ministers’ prayers that gives worship its “worth.” It is your presence, experiencing that sacred hour of transformation with us. When you add your prayers to the mix, your breath into the silence, your voice to the songs: that is the worth in our worship.

See you Sunday.

In faith,
Claire

Membership News

“Think of a time when you have felt truly welcomed. Maybe it was coming home after a long time away. Maybe someone took you in when you were far from home. Relive those feelings for a moment. Feel that warmth again; see those smiles and feel those arms embracing you. What a gift it is to be welcomed. Hospitality, true hospitality, is emotionally powerful. It touches something very deep in us—our profound human longing to feel accepted, to belong, to be loved, to feel safe, to be valued and respected.”

Religious Hospitality: A Spiritual Practice for Congregations by Peter Morales

Repeatedly this past year, I heard from both newcomers and visitors alike about how welcomed they felt here at Follen. Specific examples included the genuine interest in them exhibited by our hosts, by people in the pews during the “widening the welcome” portion of the service, and at coffee hour when they were approached by members who seemed truly interested in meeting them. The new people stated the welcome was consistent each time they returned to Follen. When asked what brought them back each week, the common theme in their answers included, “Claire, Claire’s sermons, the music, a place to talk about matters of the spirit and the sense of ‘belonging’ in community.”

This past Sunday, April 6, was Membership Sunday. This year, Rev. Claire chose to offer a Pulpit Call during the service. That is, anyone in the sanctuary who wanted to join at that time in the service could do so. Ten people had notified us prior to Sunday that they planned to sign the book. When it came time in the service for the Pulpit Call, 8 additional people came forward! As of Sunday we have 18 new members of Follen Church. Eleven of the 18 have been coming to Follen since the fall. They are some of the same people who stated they felt so warmly welcomed here at Follen. They stated that Follen is both a spiritual home and a community that affords connection both internally via the many activities, groups and programs that Follen offers and externally to the wider world through the Social Justice Action Team subcommittees.

For our new members, signing the book allows them to continue on their combined spiritual and personal journey. “To choose membership is to choose to be on a path of gradual progression from lesser to greater commitment, which neither begins nor ends at the point of formal joining.” (http://liberal_pulpit.blogspot.com/2014/02/we-need-to-belong.html)

The journey is not a solo one, however. As Laura Maltby, chair of the membership committee, stated in her remarks during the service on Sunday: “Finally, we want you to know that the work of the membership committee is not over when you sign the book. It is our desire to help everyone in this community to find meaningful ways to connect more deeply with Follen Church and with each other.……Welcome.”

May we partner in this journey together.

Be well,
Catherine

"Mama, I love this place." My young daughter nestsle close beside me as we rock back and forth, back and forth, on the old porch swing. The freshly painted yellow house, with its green and white trim, is the perfect backdrop on this beautiful spring day. Here we have room for life. We have a rhythm to our day. We have exactly enough time for what is truly important. I wonder: Does the fact that we happen to be sitting on a swing that is part of a museum display say something about the pace of life today?

This reflection helps me to remember the importance of noticing the small moments of ordinary time. Keeping sacred the opportunities that we have to see the flowers, smell the earth, touch the sky and spend time together; where ever that may be. May it be so!

Enjoy the spring, Halleluiah!

Thank you to our donors and for all of those generous Follen supporters who were not assigned a student due to a declining birth rate in our Partner Church. Despite a shortage of students, there is no shortage of tasks as we prepare for our visitors from our Partner Church from September 5-September 14. Please contact kay.lamer@verizon.net for questions about how you might help.

SKYPE conversation — Sunday, May 4 with Visitors

One of the 9 visitors will be Ibolya Serestely or “Iby” who is a 43 year old school psychologist. She is the mother of Blanka Nagy, a current scholarship student. Iby’s mother, Ibolya, and father, Elemer, hosted Kay Lamer during her first visit in 2011 and her second visit in 2013. Kay writes the following:

Iby represents the changing picture of our Partner Church village. Though raised in a Hungarian Unitarian home in Transylvania, Romania, her partner, Nick, is a member of the Romanian Air Force and raised as a Romanian Orthodox Christian. She remains devoted to her family in the village and would travel daily from her home in Torda in order to bring her father to chemotherapy treatment before his death in July, 2012.

During my second visit, I discovered Iby’s “Universalist’s heart” while hiking to her favorite waterfall. She collects trash dumped by other visitors to protect this cherished spot. Her professional stories about working with Roma children, a much maligned minority in Europe, reflect a belief in the inherent dignity and worth of all individuals. Raised in the Unitarian faith, Iby has embraced our Universalist values.

Please join us Sunday, May 4 at 12:00 noon in the Emerson/Alcott Room. Or, if you want to help before then, please contact Sarah Richards (sjrichards68@gmail.com) to sign up for soup sales.

HEY, HAVE YOUR FEELINGS BEEN HURT?

As many of you know Laura Maltby and her son Richard will be traveling to Paraguay in late June 2014. They will be helping prepare and serve a hot lunch for 80—100 children—preschoolers through young teens—who come from families with very few resources. June is the beginning of the Paraguayan winter, when temperatures drop into the 40’s. These children live in houses with no heat and little to no insulation. Warm hats are needed in sizes for toddlers to teens. The goal is to provide a warm hat for each child.

To kick off this venture, Follen’s Knitting group, Follen Stitches, has created “Hat-a-Thon.” They are welcoming other knitters and crocheters of all ages and abilities to begin knitting hats for the children in Paraguay.

But, you ask, what about those of us, the severely craft challenged, can we participate? Good question! We see this as a unique opportunity to expand this social justice activity beyond knitters and create a Follen community event. Therefore, we hope that you will participate in Follen’s first “Hat-a-Rama.” Because of the timing (end of winter) and through the use of creative couponing, we have been able to obtain hats that originally sell for $15-20 each for approximately $3.00 each. We currently have 72 hats for donation. We have been able to incorporate this social justice project into the religious education curriculum. Children will be selling the hats for donation at an upcoming coffee hour (date to be determined). We believe this is the type of program that will bond our community while putting social justice in action. We hope that you will participate.

Okay, you want to know about our mascot animal? The jaguar is native to Paraguay. It is a muscular and compact species, weighing anywhere between 79 and 350 pounds. This makes the jaguar the third largest cat in the world (behind the lion and the tiger), and the largest cat in the western hemisphere. The jaguar prefers to live in dense rainforests, but can survive an any number of different habitats, although it usually will stay in those that include bodies of water (the jaguar is actually a very gifted swimmer). This is why we chose the jaguar (plus the Kiva Goat wanted a friend).
President’s Letter

After such a long winter, there are sweet signs of spring at Follen:
• Crocuses are up in the flower beds
• Troupes of youth are racing through the halls singing operetta songs
• Behind the intriguing scaffolding, the cell tower antenna is being replaced
• FUUY youth and adult volunteers are gearing up for the NOLA service trip
• The April calendar is bursting with Earth Action events
• Cape Cod Weekend sign-ups are starting!

And other signs of growth and renewal: our fabulously successful goods and services auction netted close to $22,000 (thanks to chief organizer Kathy Hoben and all who helped). Along with everyone’s terrific support for the Stewardship campaign, we have completed one of the smoothest budget processes in recent history, with – this is amazing – every budget proposal funded and accepted! This is both a testament to Stewardship’s great work and the carefully considered goals of the Action Teams. They made the case, and you said yes.

We are also pleased that Follen has received a $5,000 grant from the UU Association to support our ministerial intern, Hillary Collins-Gilpatrick. She’ll be starting her intern year in September, but will get to know some of us when she joins the FUUY service trip to New Orleans. This is a great introduction for her additional new role (also starting in the fall) as the FUUY Coordinator.

These are exciting times for Follen, full of growth and potential.

At our recent Membership Service, 18 new parishioners – accompanied by children, partners and friends - signed our membership book. Applause rang through the sanctuary as we cheered them in. All of us are excited by their energy and commitment.

And this renewal comes just in time, because we must say farewell to Dennis and Sally Brown as they move to San Diego to be close to family. For 30 years Dennis and Sally have offered devoted service and leadership. Their generous spirit and tireless hands have done more to keep Follen strong and true to its principles of service and community than any can say. We hope you will attend this Sunday’s good-bye and farewell event for them.

We enter the last three months of an eventful year with joy and anticipation. Reverend Claire has settled seamlessly into spiritual leadership. Many old hands feel renewed as many new hands join in. We are truly blessed.

GUN VIOLENCE PREVENTION GROUP

TAKE A STAND AGAINST GUN VIOLENCE IN BOSTON

Join the Mother's Day Walk for Peace

Sunday, May 11, 2014, 8 am

Follen’s Gun Violence Prevention Group is organizing Follenites of all ages to join the Louis D. Brown Peace Institute's Mother's Day Walk for Peace in Dorchester on Sunday, May 11. On a day when we celebrate mothers and children, the annual Walk is a time for families and friends to feel support and love with thousands of others who pledge their commitment to peace and support the work of the Peace Institute (http://mothersdaywalk4peace.org).

The Louis D. Brown Peace Institute serves as a center for healing, teaching and learning for families and communities dealing with murder, trauma, grief and loss. Applying its peace curriculum in area schools, the Peace Institute also works to instill the value of peace in young people. Through education, collaboration, and policy advocacy, it raises awareness of the causes and consequences of violence on the individual, the family, and the community.

Plan to start this Mother's Day by honoring all the mothers in your life and affirming your commitment to ending gun violence with your presence and contribution to this wonderful organization. We have taken as our theme for the Walk the Institute's belief that PEACE IS POSSIBLE. For information or to help with preparations, visit the Social Justice table at coffee hour or contact Anne Grady (agrady@eonconnect.com).

JIM FESLER WILL BE HAVING A SOLO EXHIBIT IN MAY AT CARY LIBRARY IN LEXINGTON, IN THE PURCHASE GALLERY.

The show, titled “Faces and Places in Black and White”, will include about 20 monochrome images, with the show divided into photos of people in Peru, and photos of abandoned public buildings with interesting histories.

The show runs for the entire month of May, and there will be an artist reception on Saturday May 10, from 3 to 4:30 PM in the Large Meeting Room downstairs in the library. Jim hopes that, even if you can’t get to the reception May 10, you’ll visit the library sometime in May.
April is Follen Celebrates The Earth Month

By Jean Foster

The first Earth Day on April 22, 1970 brought 20 million people of every age, class, and political persuasion into the streets around the world. They demanded that, after a century of industrialization, corporations stop using our lands, rivers, air, and oceans as sewers and dumps, leaving citizens and communities with the cleanup and health costs and giving the profits to shareholders. It must be the most massive expression of social conscience ever made.

Within a few years, the U.S. government, led by Richard Nixon and a bi-artisan congress, responded with an astonishing array of environmental protection legislation:

- Environmental Protection Agency
- Clean Water Act
- Clean Air Act Extensions
- Toxic Substances Control Act
- Safe Drinking Water Act
- Wilderness Act
- Endangered Species Act
- First fuel economy standards
- Federal Water Pollution Control Amendments
- Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act
- Marine Mammals Protection Act
- Resource Recovery Act

 Forty-four years later we are at another pivotal moment for environmental protection with the threat of climate change.

What can we do? As individuals and as members of this community we will do whatever we can and use whatever tools and strategies at our disposal to reaffirm our stewardship of, and protect this planet our home.

The UUA General Assembly (GA) Divestment from Fossil Fuels Resolution – How Will Follen Vote?

At last summer’s UUA General Assembly (GA) a group of delegates, concerned about climate change and what we as UUs could do to address it, proposed a binding resolution to divest the UUA Common Endowment Fund (CEF) from fossil fuels as a way of publically voicing our disapproval of the actions of the fossil fuel industry whose business model requires the extraction of all of the reserves now in the ground. World scientists agree the amount of carbon in those reserves is five times the amount that could be safely introduced into the atmosphere without causing a climate catastrophe.

Divestment as a strategy to bring about social change has been used successfully in the past for such issues as ending apartheid in South Africa and reducing the political clout of the tobacco industry in order to force them to halt their dishonest claims about the addictiveness of tobacco. Proponents of fossil fuel divestment believe it can help counter-balance the lobbying influence of the money the fossil fuel industry pours into Washington to block sustainable energy initiative and fair carbon taxes.

After six months of drafting the divestment proposal with UUA Treasurer Tim Brennan and his staff, the team submitted the resolution for the petitioning process. Twenty-five churches only needed to get 10 member signatures each for the resolution to be added to the GA agenda for voting in June. So far 101 churches including Follen have signed the petition.

Follen is still figuring out who our delegates to the UUA General Assembly will be and how we can support them. We will actively seek congregational input and involvement to help guide our delegates.

Read the resolution at: http://tinyurl.com/UUdivestres

April Events on Climate Change and Climate Solutions

So that we can make an informed decision about how we want our delegates to vote on the Divestment from Fossil Fuels resolution at GA, and so we can learn about other actions we can take, the Environmental Justice Task Force (EJTF) has planned a series of events on climate change, divestment, lowering your carbon footprint, and renewable energy options, throughout the month of April. We will also have a table setup during coffee hour each Sunday with handouts and a Follen.org resource web page with links to more information. Request to join the Follen Environmental Justice email list to discuss the issues and ask questions. Watch the Follen Friday Updates or check the Follen Celebrates The Earth web page for complete details on these events.

We especially urge you to to attend the forum entitled Socially Responsible Investment (SRI), Divestment, and Climate Change on Tuesday, April 15 at 7:00 pm in the Marshman Center. Our three guest panelists are Tim Brennan, UUA Treasurer and representative of the CEF, David Zwick, Progressive Asset Management Group/Financial West Group, and Leslie Samuelson, Sr. VP of Green Century Funds, one of the most respected SRI funds, will discuss their work and perspectives on SRI for institutions and individuals. Followed by a reception with snacks.

Does your life seem more stressful these days? That’s because it probably is, according to several national studies. In a workshop scheduled for 7 to 9 on Thursday, May 8, psychologist John Dacey will be suggesting ways you might address the problem. He will focus on anxiety, the chief cause/result of stress, both yours and your family’s. Please let him know if you plan to attend: dacey@bc.edu.

The tradition of a Follen Church Music Service on Palm Sunday continues this year on April 13th at 10:30 a.m. with a service of readings and compositions exploring themes of Nature: God's world, Darwin's laws, the beauty of nature, and human fragility.

The Follen Choir, conducted by Music Director Thomas Stumpf and with pianist Shaylor Lindsay, will sing a program of diverse and moving music of the last 100 years: Anthems by Arvo Pärt, Gregory Brown, Randall Thompson and Ralph Vaughan-Williams, as well as "Each and All" by Thomas Stumpf and the world premiere of "Evolution" by Scott Hilse, longtime much-loved tenor soloist of the choir. Three of the Choir’s soloists - Epp Sonin, Scott Hilse and Benjamin Sears - will sing songs by Charles Ives, Aaron Copland and Jeffrey H. Rickard.

The service will be led by the Reverend Claire Feingold Thoryn, who will also contribute some powerful readings.

Caring for Our Elderly Parents

Are you caring for, or concerned about, issues related to one or more elderly parents? Have you felt alone at times with the decisions and crises that crop up? Have you wished there were others who understood what you are going through? Follen has a support group for those who are dealing with the situations of elderly parents or other close elderly relations. We meet on a monthly basis, and participation is open to Follen members and friends. The next meeting will be held on Sunday, May 4th in the Follen Library, from 8:30—10:00 am. Coffee, tea and a light refreshment will be served. To RSVP, or for more information, please contact Amy Newmark or Laurel Carpenter.

BOOKS for CHELSEA

Chelsea, where I work as a pediatrician, is one of the poorest cities in Massachusetts and many residents are immigrants/refugees. (1/3 of the population are not citizens - the highest in the state). Many of the children have little or no access to books they can call their own. I collect children's books that our patients can chose from to take home. Reading has been shown to improve school performance. If you can donate some children's books, especially books for younger children and early readers, please place them in the basket in the vestibule of the community center or you can call me. Thank you!
